View & Opinion

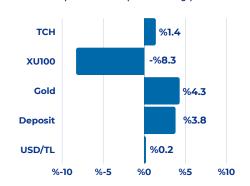

In our multi-asset strategy, we have largely concluded our precious metals investments in the TAC Free Fund, where we track futures. We still believe that the valuations on Borsa Istanbul are cheap, but we haven't seen a strong enough buying signal to increase the equity weight in the fund. We will continue to participate in corporate sector bond issuances that meet our risk and return criteria. Considering the market's focus on liquidity, overnight repo transactions will also be a place to evaluate cash.
